

Farmers' Market Activity Ideas for Young Children

Enhance learning opportunities before, during, and after a farmers' market visit with these ideas!

Before Visiting Market

- Read books about farmers' markets at circle time. For suggestions, flip over!
- Place pictures of produce under headers for each season and discuss what you may expect to see at market.

While Visiting Market

- Conduct a scavenger hunt where children look for certain colors, products, or people, such as a baker or yellow tomato.
- Focus observations with prompts. For suggestions, flip over!
- Practice vocabulary: farmer, baker, cheesemaker, orchard, dairy, grains, apple, tomato, lettuce, and radish.

After Visiting Market

- Prompt children, 'What did you see, hear, and smell at the market?'
- Print out sequence cards for children to place in order showing how produce gets from farmer fields to the dinner table.
- Provide farm hat, play produce, and tags to write prices in dramatic play area for children to act out being market farmers.
- Complete a taste-test of two market finds. Have children vote for their favorite and graph the results.

Story Time

- Farmers' Market Day by Shanda Trent
- Fresh-Picked Poetry: A Day at the Farmers' Market by Michelle Schaub
- A Day at the Market by Sara Anderson
- Fruit by Sara Anderson
- Vegetables by Sara Anderson
- We're Going to the Farmers' Market by Stefan Page
- Before We Eat: From Farm to Table by Pat Brisson
- To Market, To Market by Nikki McClure
- Fresh Delicious: Poems from the Farmers' Market by Irene Latham

Prompts to Focus Observation

- What colors are those tomatoes?
(Repeat with other products.)
- Play 'I spy with my little eye' games spotting food products that start with certain letters of the alphabet.
- What do plants need to grow?
- Farmers' markets are often outside — use this opportunity to discuss the weather using concrete adjectives, such as rainy, cloudy, sunny, hot, cool, and windy.

This project is funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan.